Don't apologize at all. When the dean asked me to stay on and take the role of Interim Head of SUAPP and get it restarted I made it clear to him that I had committed to my family to be in Florida for much of January with the understanding that I would continue to move the SUAPP agenda from there on line and by phone. He was kind enough to accept that and I try to keep my side of the bargain by working from here. I get up every morning, work on line, make calls, etc. then join in family activities and exercise during the day. I block afternoon time to get back on line, etc.. My sister who lives in Michigan has been with us, my kids come down and some long-time friends who provide us with their beach house in Orange Beach, AL, in the summer and fall come too. It's been a nice tradition, plus growing up as a northern Midwesterner, I hate winters, even Memphis versions. I'm writing this from my veranda overlooking the beach in Naples, FL, so don't feel too sorry for me.

So at any time, let me know what I may do to help.

I am but still working.

Great job in spearheading grant proposal.

See you next week.

Based on current travel plans (which could change given in-law health issues), I do not expect to be in Memphis next Monday. I'm not a signee on the proposal so my presence shouldn't matter anyway. I'll be contacting John T, Daphene M, Andy K, and Greg W today about their availability and will let you know their responses.

Colleagues,

We have received notification that our Project Team Interview for the U of M Interdisciplinary Innovation Grant is Monday, January 23 from 4:30 - 5:00 p.m. in the Administration Building, Room 136. ALL THE U OF M COLLABORATORS ARE EXPECTED TO BE PRESENT. IF YOU ARE AMONG THE NINE INDIVIDUALS TO WHOM THIS MEMO IS ADDRESSED, YOU ARE AMONG THAT GROUP, ALONG WITH MYSELF.

If you are one of our community collaborators (the D.A. and police director), you are invited, and your presence would obviously help.

Dr. Madden is working on a draft power point for use at the interview. However, we really need to meet to discuss and prepare for the presentation, using her draft as a starting point. We realize this is short notice but would like to meet this Thursday, January 19 at 8:30 a.m. at the Urban Child Institute, 600 Adams Avenue, where parking will be easy. We will meet in one of the conference rooms on the first floor. The meeting should take about one hour. If you cannot attend, Dr. Madden or I will try to get with you one-on-one if at all possible before Monday.

PLEASE CONFIRM to Linda Russell asap at lrussell8@memphis.edu whether or not you be in attendance at:

1. The Project Team Interview on Monday, January 23 and
2. The preparation meeting on Thursday, January 19.
